Introduction

Early one morning, after I moved to Sedona, Arizona, and recovered from ill health, I was awakened by words swirling within me. I took pen to paper and wrote the words exactly as I heard/felt them. As I wrote, shimmering triangles danced onto the paper, and I felt a cadence of love.

I came to understand that the sacred words I was given, is the Light Language of the Akashic Records. Today, I am asked to share them with the world to help humanity shed their cover of darkness and awaken to the light and love of God.

The English language, in its present grammatical form, keeps our minds susceptible to control or social conditioning. Social conditioning uses shame and guilt behaviors to lock our minds into a hypnotic trance of mediocrity. When our mind dominates, we only hear their voice. Our heart and soul remain silent. Without our heart soul connection, we live robotically controlled by others without the light and love of God and our soul.

You will notice that the words of Light Language do not follow each rule for English grammar. The majority of the English language speaks to our minds. On the other hand, Light Language is the language of the dimensions of love and light. Light Language, by its nature, speaks to our heart and soul and will help re-establish their connection that God intended for humanity. The split between our hearts and souls will repair. Our soul heart connection will bestow upon us unlimited happiness and joy by the grace of God.

Spiritual Directive to Lois Hollis

Today we need to hear the messages within Light Language. Humanity is unaware of the evils and darkness placed upon them. Lois, you are our spokesperson to tell them. The darkness of negativity was put upon humanity to delay its evolution. Shame and guilt are the demons of society that skillfully infiltrated our earth presence, and we became their victims. They shattered our truth and connection to love and the Lord God.

It is up to us to say no to this force silently imposed upon us. However, we must first recognize that shame and guilt are our enemies, and we do not use their behavior to ourselves or others.

“Shame and guilt are not ours to own or to give.” Lois Hollis

LIGHT LANGUAGE POETRY

Reading One

The spirit of the wind talks to my soul as it glistens within the framework of love. It talks to my shadow of the green within the forgotten places of the earth.

Within the establishment of peace one knows only of the hardships of life. Within the chosen places of matter is the true song of joy that takes us within the storage house of pure undivided love.

Within the place of reason is the place of joy and within each house there is the kingdom of peace that glows within each kingdom of reason.

For it is love that is the bounty of peace and within this peace is the guardian of the soul that has taken itself further into the dance of time.

Now is the time that the joy will come and bless each fiber of our being. Along came the joy within each soul but no one could hear its music. The dance of the species is the goldenness of time that will come only when there is the peace of the giving and the walk of life.

Today the stars talk their music and sing their songs and each heart awakens in the dismal parts of the night sky. Today is the wilderness of peace that only asks of itself to follow within the dream of things.

The dancing and the singing is the walks of time and within the glowing is the place of the species that walks within the time of things. It is not the matter of the talking but rather of singing of the dancing that fills each heart with love.

The totality of joy is the glistening of reason that talks within the night to bring us each day of wisdom. Tomorrow is only a reflection of times that have gone by and within each dance of time is the flowing particles of love.

Today only is the place of the reason of the truth garnishes within each wisdom of soul. Tomorrow never happens until the day turns to night and within each moment of the day is the particles of tomorrow that join within the heavens to make time our friend.

Now each particle of truth gains entry way to the wisdom of the free world and within each particle of truth lies the abundance of wisdom that dances within each freedom of soul. Today glistens the night and beauty abounds within the reason of each love of the moment of time that will come only when the love of the moment interacts we the peace of the night.

Each moment here is the clarity of wisdom that dances until time stands still and each moment is the place of the time that has come to bless our following within each space of time. We dance humbly and within each other's arms to bring the peace of the universe within each heart of joy.

We can only dance within the species of love and tonight we will only see the places of reason. And yet shame and guilt have come into the love of the wishes and drowned each particle of truth. Along came its destruction and voided out our joy.

Today is the resurrection of the species that knows only the time of love and will garnish each pledge of loyalty to the granting of love within the peace of each moment.

The destruction was heavy but nothing can dispel the spirit of love. For only without the shame and guilt of the species can revive the joy within the universe. Nothing will ever destroy love but it has been covered by the demons of darkness so we cannot find ourselves of love.

Today Lois will bring open the doors of love to furnish the night of shame to retract itself to follow the one and only love of the moment and of the species.

It is of God to dance and sing the love poems of truth and sing the singing of the love. Truth honors the soul and nothing will destroy the prison that the soul has put itself within.

We will erect our being as is now told by the kingdom of light. It has been declared around the universe to love and joy each other. But shame and guilt remains upon ones heart of joy and how does the species survive.

It is now noted that all will come upon the new world and the disgrace of time will no longer exist in the bowels of the descended beings that have brought the darkness of the night upon each soul.

Lois go forward with the truth of this and all is enlighten within you. It has been now chosen for you to speak and speak openly about the shame and the guilt for all those to hear. And yes they will speak unto you to find out more of the dispenses of unknown peace.

No one will interrupt you and you are to be given this time only to speak by yourself. For no one has the words that you have and you must be alone in the talking for no one can speak these words for you and you alone can only dance this time in this place and this particular function that is rewarding you for your presence here upon this earth of yours.

Go forward with this mission and you are being blessed and cared for. For it is your light that they seek unknowingly and block all presence that is not of your liking. Now is the time for you in the distance of the future that you have waited to start your fame and game of love

It will be taught and greeted so be ready to receive and goldenness of this appointment must be seen through your eyes of love and dance within the kingdom of the graces that share within each particle of time.

No more of the wailing within the walls of untruth for the dancing can only sing its dance within the halls of love and joy.

We glisten within you and speak to you as if we are one and only dance to sing. But perhaps your earthly self cannot absorb all our mastery at one time. So we speak sporadically as you would say and we all win the dance of peace and love.

It is your time now to spread out your wings and fly the divine light of peace without shame and guilt. You will master it all and we will make sure that your heaven agrees with your earth. Each particle of time is now ordained to hear your wishes and grant your desires that float upon each obstacle to love that can be found.

You will raise up the earth of you and within each time of yourself your raising will be the blessing of peace and love that goes forward within the winds of time. No more of the distrust and the unloved for beauty has now spoken unto you and you will dance only within this peace of joy.

Be harken to these words of love for they will guide you and you alone to these dances. Then other will follow you. You must make this distinction for your voice of these words timing cannot be interrupted or challenged in anyway. No one can alter your words that come from the magic of your soul. Be in the rhythm of this time and the blessings will flow only when the joy and the love to meet themselves.

All has been provided for you and the dancing and the singing will last only forever of the time. Time will be yours to have and to hold within the music of your soul that dances with the winds of love and peace.

We grant you the wishes of the moment and the time will dance within you as if you were time itself and merging with the grace of the day and the night will flow as if you have finally accepted this place of love for your only self.

The decree has been said the each moment will talk within itself and the glowing will only continue within you until it can be spread within others. They cannot reach you yet but the more that you speak the less the distance becomes. In time and soon they will be a place in time that these moments will dance and song for others. It is so written within us and the book of time that all matters of the heart sing this dance and love their song of true beauty.

Along came the obstacles that cannot no longer sing in the darkness that hurts your soul and ravishes your mind. It is will be this time of the peace and the penance will no longer be needed. We circle within this time frame and know and bring what you are bring forth to honor each particle of time and love and bring on this beauty of the earth plane.

No one is forgotten to love it is only the joy that has stopped ringing within the hearts of love. But fear not because love is always here that takes away the fears and the distrusts of being. Love is the beauty of the universe and it talks to us in truth and joy and blesses all that is of the God universe and we can spread the love within its own kingdom as if there is an everlasting supply.

The demons of darkness cannot damage love they can only stop us the humans from using our love to flow evenly among the tree tops of wisdom.

All is so ordained and Lois we are with you to spread our message and be at peace and love and do not let the demons of darkness tarnish your existence. We are here to protect your behaviors and ways and do not ever not know that we exist only to guide protect and love you always as each moment unfolds its beauty unto you. 02/07/2020

Now is the Time

Reading Two

The love inside us is growing upon the window of love. Towards is the circle of dreams that dances within itself. No more of the complaining of the life that does not exist. For in the place of the unknown is the jewel of the present.

Today we live in the extremes of things. No more of this and no more of that. But the abundance of life craves to be lived. The sunset is merely the dawn of creation settling within itself. The cycle is the cycle of good and bad that has to burn its way off into the dust of the night.

Much more can be said about the life of the human but it is not understood to the fullest because time ran out of the place of the knowing.

Perhaps the division of life took upon itself to be witnessed in the freedom of the light and today is only the song that sings the remains of time. The glistening waters of life give us the dreams of tomorrow and the place of the riches flow immediately to us.

Transcending light is the jewel of the wisdom that flows continuously upon the seekers of love. Tomorrow is the dance of the riches that seems to give us the peace of love.

Tomorrow seems never to come but in the twilight of darkness is the reason for the existence of love that furnishes us with the wisdom of the glorious time of creation.

The time has come to see its beauty and the reason that life exists at all. Tomorrow is the rose bud of greatness and the sea of content that visits us often.

We are in the rose bed of love furnishing us love and joy and purpose but perhaps we have not learned to sing the song of goodness and Godness.

However, we will learn to love and joy and witness all of creation that flows within itself the place of the seeking now downing the place of the reason and the fact of the love will come equally present. Today is today and tomorrow is tomorrow. The leaves of love are here and there and we can eat of the fruit that bears our wisdom.

The frontage of love is the extraction of the reason that life began at all. The doorway of the opening is the sea of wisdom that dances and plays the music of our soul.

Tomorrow is the dance of time that lays witnessing itself to see the beauty of love that once was. The candlestick of love brings the light upon us all.

We are in the witnessing of joy that is transparent to the jewels of the universe. The clarity of wisdom knows only love and to be steadfast in its army of joy.

The today is our moment we must live it with grace and the jewel of creation everlasting upon the grief that brought us into the desolation of the falseness of life.

The truth wins over the sadness of lives and see it as the beauty that once was. The abandonment of the life is the seas of discontent that have been brought to us by the demons of darkness.

Let's talk about the demons of darkness. They live they thrive within the reality of light. Yes they use the light for the existence of themselves.

To conquer them one must avoid them and throw them away into the trash of the universe. There is the cycle now upon this earth of ours that wants to move forward into the grace of the glistening and here is the moment that this can and will happen.

We will not accept anything less. The demons of darkness are now to crumb down into the cesspool of the unknown seekers that have been guided by the plagiarism of life.

The anointing of souls is coming and with that anointing is the giving of life that shall span a million and million of lives. Taken within each content of reality one must need not accept the words of Satan. The devil has always been among us but must now fight for its very existence.

We the people are its judge. We can and will defeat the monster of the deep. It is told and retold many times of the battle but no one knew it was coming.

At last my dear child the time is now and you must speak of this knowledge is a way that is heard and loved upon the masses.

So go it now the people and tell them all is good and the reason for the desolation is the demons of darkness.

It is provided for you and why would it not be. The fragility of time awaits your message. And you will receive the openings that you so justly need to continue on your path of enlightenment.

The seer is the bearer of good news that awaits the spirit of wisdom that flows forth within the time of you.

Take heed into the darkness and enlightened all.

The beauty of creation is unfolding before us in a way that is different to the seeker. The alone itself is no longer but in the groups of the love is flourishing. Along came the joy and changed the way we feel and upon its rise is the kingdom of the giving.

The light shines the demons away and the more we take to our own light the more that the demons cannot have and misuse.

Light is effervescent the joy it brings is immeasurable to the seeker of love. Today is the day and live it wisely for in each moment of time is the graciousness of the Lord God who has come to give us the peace of the joy that dances within the night of the region of sin. To this time we give the lustfulness of love and it will glisten to the everlasting peace of the joy that furnishes the joy and lives the joy within the creation of the human species.

Joy within the species is the reason for its creation. And yes we are the vessels that carry the joy. So it was made to honor the living parts of the universe and the living is now and the joy is present but the demons of darkness ate and ate up our joy. We are the joy manufactures of the universe. So it is told upon the mighty book of heaven.

The joy will mingle in heaven when we can live it here upon this place of earth that stands ready to receive it.

Love and joy is the reason for life that sits upon us to tell us the story of the universe. The universe can only grow and expand when we the humans embody the joy and the love together. Love is the growth and joy sustains its growth.

We can and will always remain faithful to the light that brings the love and makes the joy to sustain the life of the human.

The feelings of the human are the carrier of the joy and we now witness how the earth was formed. The ounce can and the beauty is all the reasons for life itself.

We must find our joy and live it constantly in the regions of our hearts and souls. The frequency of joy begins the life of the human and here upon the rosebud of the seeker lies the dormancy of all living within the universe.

Take heed of these stories because all must dully come tomorrow as the present light gives us the joy and the love to bring forth the life of the universe.

We can only exist and thrive within the love of creation that uses the joy to expand and grow into more love and light.

Love light and joy is what has created all life upon the being that witness themselves as we grow into the extinction of the reasons why we should not exist. It is meaningless to believe that life can be changed into the direction of the darkness. Life would cease to exist if the love and the joy were taken away.

Hope is the forerunner that allows the human to live their grace. The speedy remedy of life is now upon us and you Lois my dear will tell others that love and you creates life. And the demons of darkness takes it away. 02/08/2020

Reading Three

*I*t is with great happiness with love that we come together again this day of love. The mourning of the world continues but we are here to give the blessings of truth. The world is now evolving within its own kingdom of love. The recipients are now flying to join each other in the dance of grace and joy.

The love that effervesces from itself is the reason for life itself. The bringer of love tells us the joy has been deposited upon this earth.

The everlasting endurance of love talks to itself in the reasons of doubt and love is forever singing its song.

Tell us now of how the beauty intersects with love.

The frozenness of joy has now been released and it now finds its own beauty of song. The rising of the kingdom of which it has been found is the keys to the wisdom of the world.

Alone is now the earthquake of love that tempts itself to explode into the kingdom of grace and points only to itself. Now upon the dewdrop of morning is the right of passage of love to each and every human that sings the song of joyful embrace.

Along came the singer that dances in the sky to bring upon each starlit dream that beauty now inhabits the world.

The change has occurred and the earth is now the beauty of the universe and all must follow now in its design.

The changing of the guard from dark to light has occurred to give freedom to each inhabitant. Along came the evilness that darkened its bliss but now the joy has cracked it opened for all to see.

The coming of God within each of us can now be seen and within each heart the pieces of love is activated. The good news is upon us for all to hear and see and those of us need to arise from the ashes of the deep to partake of the love that it brings.

Oh such wonders we are here now to sing and dance alongside our given right to bless all the kingdoms of the world.

We have joined forces of love and beauty that will arise only when we can partake of the love and joy that comes easily now within the focus of love.

The truth is now awakened within each of us to join and join with the maidens of love and joy.

Perhaps we have forgotten how to sing but the dance of love cometh anyway. In time the dance has been seen and the glory of God and self will recognize itself and beauty will be the only dance that comes straight unto us all.

All the humans will dance the dance for it is their final call to come forward from the dust that has been put upon this earth of ours.

Yes we have been given this earth to sing and dance and play the music of our souls and with it we will lift it further within the space of reason that allows the freedom of love and joy to once again inhabit the soul of ours.

Today is the dance of the kingdom that glows within the darkness of the truth of expression and the journey here will live forever within the stars of the world.

The truth is now singing and we are dancing within the light that the darkness took from us.

The joy is heavenly and the dancing will always continue to embellish the souls that want to sing.

The dark sky has been erased and the joy cannot be seen and felt within all hearts of the universe. Today the sky has cracked open and we can now see and know that the truth of the world is the coming of the joy.

The remainder of time will always be as the world turns within itself to be all that it was destined to be. The long time has been now given to the earthly people to shine and shine against the truth of love.

The residues of the lust and discord are shaken from the selves of us. It is the earthquake of love that has now descended upon each of us.

The earthquake of love will now absorb the darkness and we will be shaken into who we are to live the dance of the freedom and joy that will always be because it always was.

So easily upon these joys and sing them to the world that has awaited for its dream to be realized. In time it will be noted when the cracks of the darkness allow the freedom of the love to explode within each of us.

The turbulence of the love feeling will be difficult for some to feel. It is a different song to sing but it is possible for all to hear.

Leave your difficulties within the frozenness of fear and dance the songs that are being sung from the wisdom of your soul.

The souls of humanity are dancing now to bring the joy that comes within each of us. The truth is now equated to all and the singing and the dancing is here for all of us to live.

Alongside came the demons of darkness but they cannot hear the songs of love. They are frozen into the ways of Satan and will never be able to sing the songs of love. The demons are cast away into their own fear and will be dissolved into the emptiness of space. The demons were not ever made to dance the songs of heaven but were allowed to test their talents in the skies of love.

Along came the freewill dance that granted all to happen upon this earth of ours and the universe became infected as well. The infection of greed and discord embedded itself into all that life had come upon.

It is in this infection of evil that ravished the earth and destroyed our beingness to find the love and joy that was given to all.

The test had been extended but no more is to be granted. The Beings of the darkness have been not rescued from themselves and they have been turned into themselves and not able to be abolished. The only way now is to extradite them to themselves and in time they will destroy themselves as the evil has taken over them.

The insides of the lust and the darkness can destroy the humanness without love. 02/13/2020

Reading Four

Taken now is the blessings of truth that tell us to manage our lives within the joy of each and every moment. For within the moments the glistening stars of joy talk to us and tell us to be happy and joyful for the presence of the Lord God is upon us.

The crying and wailing is not to be seen for in that specific earth are the lost demons that failure has been there for eternity. They will not see the light because it is not of theirs to have. They do not have right to the light. They only to steal it from the star born.

Each demon has come to earth to devour light hoping to get the magic that the human possess. They cannot and will not ever have the light of God because they are of Satan and Satan cannot have it either. So these demons darken our light because they are jealous of the lighted beings. They can only control the lighted ones when they darken their light. They laugh to them as if it is a joke to them but in reality it is death to the star born ones.

Take heed of this scenario because much of it you must teach. The shame and guilt are the devourers of light as they sit side by side within each of us. We can rid the demons of shame and guilt when we refuse to honor their requests of disempowerment and dissolution.

It will be known now that you are the one to give the peace and look forward to the daytime that grants only the joy that comes from the heart of yours. The time has come to visit in the darkness to bring the light into the joys of the universe.

The darkness will be expelled and the darkness will cease to exist.

Time will only redeem itself when light turns the darkness around to enmesh within each of us.

It is up to the self to find their light. The judging way kills the inside. The bleak blackness is the feelings of the body that hate the self and needs to hear and feel the other parts of self. Now the two are together.

One must be skillful in ridding the demons away from the persons of light. They eat and feast upon the light and will continue until we cast them out. Each person must stand up to the demons of darkness as they are called shame and guilt.

Reading Five

Today beckons me to be upon the grace of God as I flow within the framework of love. The stillness of the earth beckons its relentless giving of truth.

Until now the grace of God has flourished among its own kingdom of darkness but at last the end of the darkness is upon us to bask at least now in the sunlight of our dreams.

No more of the gifts not given. For in the light of truth domination is the giver of the freedom of joy that dances to the rhythm of the stars.

It is now go sunshine into the midst of the unknown. For in thee treasured moments of peace life will begin again.

It is now spoken within the echo of love to transcend all that is said to be untouchable. The stars dance and the kingdom of love has power over everything within in itself.

Long standing grief comes upon us now to be washed away. The particles of desire spring upon each and every one of us as the dust of unrest breezes off of us.

The desires of love and joy take precedent to enable all of us to surrender our grief upon the mighty altar of bliss. The noise that is often heard within each treetop of desire is the candle within the wind that takes itself upon itself to blow out the darkness of evil intent.

 The shores of love show us our sins of discontent and we further rise within the kingdom of love. The graciousness of spirit is upon us now and we can merely drink its essence as it flows within our human form.

Much love is now given to all of us as we dance and dance the song of freedom.

Look upon these times as the portrait of love in motion that is not seen or felt by the masses of humanity. The few will seed the earth of ours and from it will blossom to the treetops of wisdom.

Each particle of truth now owns its own creation and the giver of peace and joy and love is merely at our doorstep.

Along came the darkness to be transmuted into the giver of the light. It is in each of us to transmit the darkness into light. The beings of us are now arising to accomplish this task and the mighty of us will be the first.

We are the transformer of the light and we are now called upon to do our job of anointing the presence with our light.

We will succeed because the universe is ready for our transmission of grace and love and peace that will be adopted by the masses in the time of their own choosing.

Do not wrestle with the dungeons of the earth. For in the light anointing all those presences were disappeared and water of the warmth pour over the ice of darkness.

It is in the bible of love that the turning of the earth is now upon us to be reckoned with and the spirit of truth and love is always at our sides to accomplish the great feats of humanity.

Go into the service of humanity and from it will be the transfixation of the peace upon mankind. Go spread your seeds of love and graciousness and the pity of the world will disappear.

It is in this anointing of the species that life will change from the darkness to the light.

You are sent here to spread these light seeds so life of humanity can blossom into its original place. Long lasting love is forever given to those of the light as they come upon each day with the lighting rod of themselves.

It is so decreed and honored that you be the light to gather all that is available to disperse upon the kingdom of darkness.

There is a settling of the darkness now into the corner of hiding and each particle of light joins together to embrace all darkness to transmute itself into light.

The darkness only light turned within itself and the darkness can also turn itself into light. All is possible because God has made the universe to selfheal upon its own darkness of lies.

The long standing grief is just the turning inward of the soul that could not see itself in the bleak night of despair. Only the constraints of grief can hold a soul in its own prison of discontent.

The grief and the shame hold tight to the inverted love patterns within us. The release of the prison will be when the shame and the greed are no longer given the place of honor to reset within our souls.

All is accomplished easily to free the human from the sacrifice of doom that he has enjoyed and played with for most of eternity.

The tides must change now. 04/17/2020
